

That Stormy Night

That stormy night
when the wind moaned like a wolf and bent the trees, and shook the house I wondered if it could blow the stars away.

What then – if their glittering dust lay among the fallen leaves the next day crystals and splinters in the morning light?
I'd sweep them up and put them in a box and bring them home to you. You'd say Nonsense. What you see up there is light that's millions of years away you know that, don't you?

Yes. I know. But still I'd shake my box of stardust hold it tight knowing the wind had blown the stars away

that stormy night
