Dear Parents and Carers

What a wonderful sunny start we have had to our summer term 2! Whilst the temperature has been rising, we have remained cool, calm and collected at school and the children are continuing to work hard, being resilient and persevering completing their final assessments for the year. We are looking forward to seeing our families with children in years 1 to 6 at forthcoming parent meetings and for our reception children, sending out their end-of-year reports. This term is also typically busy with several extra-curricular events taking place. Our children are getting out and about, enjoying sports cluster events, geography field trips, transition and taster sessions at new secondary schools. We are very grateful to all our parents and carers who make these trips and events possible. Many thanks for all your support as these opportunities for our children enrich and broaden their life experiences. There are many more events to look forward to before the end of term, please check dates at the end of this newsletter.

Book review – by Evelyn, Sika Class

A Series of Unfortunate Events by Lemony Snicket

4 stars For age 9+years

I enjoyed this book because there is a lot of suspense and mystery to really excite the reader. The protagonists are the Baudelaire children who have been left as orphans due to an unfortunate accident of their parents. The children spend the entire book searching for a safe place to live but there seems to be a sinister character with their own plan for the children. The vocabulary choices within the book are also helpful because the author gives the definitions of the words as well, which we can use for English.

Mental Health and Well-being

This week's Mental Health and Wellbeing website is: <https://www.psychom.net/build-resilience-children>

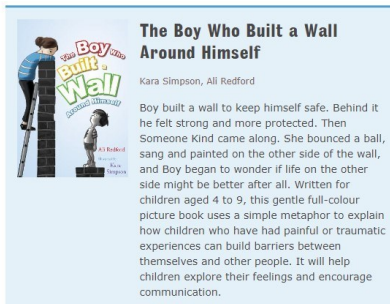

How to Build Resilience in Children: Strategies to Strengthen Your Kids

Help your child build resilience in the face of obstacles including bullying, moving, divorce, and anxiety with these tips from an expert.

Parents and Education staff across the UK and other countries have noticed that because of disrupted learning (and life!) during the pandemic; children and young people are still finding it increasingly difficult to maintain the levels of concentration and resilience when faced with challenging situations or learning, both in and outside of school. This website suggests strategies to support children and young people with building up these skills as part of lifelong development to ensure they become resilient adults who are less likely to suffer with mental health problems when they are older.

This week's focus book is:

Online Safety – Information provided by the UK Internet Safety Centre about Omegle

Schools should be aware of the possible risks associated with children and young people using websites allowing users to be paired randomly with another user to have anonymous video and text conversations with strangers.

While these websites may seem harmless, it can expose young people to inappropriate content and inappropriate contact with strangers. The lack of moderation on these sites means that users can easily encounter explicit material, hate speech, and other forms of harmful content. Additionally, the anonymity of the platform means that it can be difficult to identify or report any abusive or dangerous behaviour. The concept of these websites isn't new, however a school has recently informed us that they have had two separate incidents involving Omegle; pupils were able to access this site by simply ticking a box that confirmed they were over 18 years of age and complying with the terms and conditions.

The UK safer internet centre has advice for professionals and parents about Omegle.

Welcome to KS1 – An information session – Wednesday 12th July 2023 at 3.30pm

We are delighted to offer an information session to all our current reception parents who will soon be saying “goodbye” to Roe Class and “hello” to Fallow Class. Mrs Jepson and Mrs Turner will be on hand to describe the approach to teaching and learning in KS1 with a particular focus on phonics and early reading. Information about the daily routine and what to expect will also be shared.

Meanwhile if you haven't already had a look at the materials available on the website under the Support for Learning at Home tab, you are very welcome.

These documents also provide useful information to aid transition as our other year groups move up.
